PROFILE

With a Master's in Travel and Tourism and 6.5 years of industry experience, I am dedicated to bridging the gap between academic theory and professional practice. I specialize in translating complex financial and travel concepts into engaging, digestible lessons. My goal is to leverage my background as a high-performing analyst and counselor to inspire and equip the next generation of industry professionals with both technical precision and a passion for global exploration.

WORK EXPERIENCE

American Express Global Business Travel

Senior Travel Counselor

- By expertly guiding travelers through global ticketing systems and fare optimization, I break down complex regulations and carrier agreements to uncover hidden savings and efficient routes. My ability to simplify intricate logistics into digestible advice has consistently secured top-tier performance metrics, high client retention, and the surpassing of all service-level targets. Utilizing advanced presentation skills and visual aids, I deliver informative consultations that proactively resolve potential bottlenecks and provide a clear, reliable roadmap for global journeys. I bridge the gap between sophisticated backend systems and practical traveler needs, transforming high-stress planning into a professional, tailored experience for a diverse clientele. Through a commitment to detail and excellence, I optimize both the financial and logistical aspects of international travel while fostering lasting trust and professional relationships.

ADS Solutions

Senior Customer Care Executive

- Acting as a subject matter expert in financial communication, I resolved complex billing inquiries by providing educational clarity that simplified intricate financial data for stakeholders. I mentored team members on the nuances of ledger accuracy and account reconciliation, successfully fostering a departmental culture rooted in technical precision and professional loyalty. My work established a reputation for patient, industrious problem-solving, ensuring that even the most challenging discrepancies were met with analytical rigor. By prioritizing clear information delivery, I streamlined internal communication and enhanced the overall reliability of financial reporting within the team. This combination of mentorship and technical expertise consistently drove high standards of accuracy while strengthening the professional growth of my colleagues.
