Dedicated to fostering a dynamic learning environment that goes beyond traditional academics, I am an aspiring English teacher with a strong commitment to nurturing the academic, behavioural, and mental growth of primary and secondary school students. My teaching philosophy revolves around the balance between acquisition and learned system, which seeks to empower students with not just language proficiency but also critical life skills. With a deep passion for education, I aim to create engaging and inclusive classrooms where students thrive academically and emotionally, preparing them for a successful future in our ever-evolving world.
